Our audit approach

Overview

- Overall Group materiality: Uzbek Soums ("UZS") 23,300 million, which represents approximately 5% of profit before tax for the year 2023.
- We performed full scope audit procedures on the financial statements of the Bank and selected audit procedures on the material balances and transactions of the subsidiaries included in the consolidated financial statements of the Group.
- Assessment of expected credit loss (ECL) allowance for loans and advances to customers in accordance with IFRS 9, Financial Instruments.

As part of designing our audit, we determined materiality and assessed the risks of material misstatement in the consolidated financial statements. In particular, we considered where management made subjective judgements; for example, in respect of significant accounting estimates that involved making assumptions and considering future events that are inherently uncertain. As in all of our audits, we also addressed the risk of management override of internal controls, including among other matters, consideration of whether there was evidence of bias that represented a risk of material misstatement due to fraud.

Materiality

The scope of our audit was influenced by our application of materiality. An audit is designed to obtain reasonable assurance whether the consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement. Misstatements may arise due to fraud or error. They are considered material if individually or in aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the consolidated financial statements.

Based on our professional judgement, we determined certain quantitative thresholds for materiality, including the overall Group materiality for the consolidated financial statements as a whole as set out in the table below. These, together with qualitative considerations, helped us to determine the scope of our audit and the nature, timing and extent of our audit procedures and to evaluate the effect of misstatements, if any, both individually and in aggregate on the consolidated financial statements as a whole.

| Overall Group materiality                       | UZS 23,300 million                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| How we determined it                            | We determined overall materiality as being 5% of the profit before tax for the year 2023                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Rationale for the materiality benchmark applied | We chose profit before tax as the benchmark because, in our view, it is the benchmark against which the performance of the Group is most commonly measured by users and is a generally accepted benchmark. We chose the 5% threshold as in our professional experience this is a widely accepted quantitative measure for this benchmark. |

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matter

How our audit addressed the key audit matter

Assessment of expected credit loss (ECL) allowance for loans and advances to customers in accordance with IFRS 9, Financial Instruments

We considered assessment of ECL allowance for loans and advances to customers as a key audit matter due to the significance of ECL allowance and a complex financial reporting standard, which requires significant judgment to determine the ECL allowance.

Key areas of judgement and sources of estimation uncertainty included:

- Classification of loans and advances to customers into stages in accordance with IFRS 9;
- Key estimates and modelling assumptions used to estimate key risk parameters – probability of default and loss given default; and
- Estimated future cashflows for loans that were assessed on an individual basis.

Note 3 “Material Accounting Policies Information”, Note 4 “Critical Accounting Estimates, and Judgements in Applying Accounting Policies”, Note 9 “Loans and Advances to Customers” and Note 29 “Financial Risk Management” to the consolidated financial statements provide detailed information on the credit loss allowance.

In assessing the ECL allowance we have performed the following audit procedures:

- We involved auditor’s expert to review the methodology and models for ECL provision allowance developed by the Group in order to evaluate its compliance with IFRS 9 requirements. We focused our procedures on: default definition, factors for determining “significant increase in credit risk”, classification of the loans and advances to customers to stages, and estimation of key risk parameters.
- We used sampling to evaluate and test the design and operating effectiveness of controls over the processes that identify overdue loans.
- On a sample basis we tested segmentation and analysed significant loans and advances to corporate customers, which had not been identified by management as either having had a significant increase in credit risk or defaulted, and formed our own judgement as to whether that was appropriate.
- We tested the assumptions, inputs and formulae used in ECL models for the assessment of collective allowance. This included assessing the appropriateness of model design and verifying the formulae used in calculation of the probability of default and loss given default.

Key audit matter

How our audit addressed the key audit matter

- To verify data accuracy and quality, on a sample basis, we tested the data used in the ECL calculation by reconciling to source data, e.g., loan portfolio, loan agreements, collateral agreements,
- We performed detailed analytical procedures over the ECL calculation disaggregated by stages, segments, currency, and years to maturity.
- For those loans assessed individually, on a sample basis, we assessed the Group's estimation of expected future cash flows in various scenarios and key assumptions, including the timing of collateral collection and realisable value of collateral. We assessed the relevance of the scenarios used and their probability, and calculation of the present value of cash flows.
- We assessed the accuracy and appropriateness of disclosures in accordance with IFRS 7.

How we tailored our Group audit scope

We tailored the scope of our audit in order to perform sufficient work to enable us to provide an opinion on the consolidated financial statements as a whole, taking into account the structure of the Group, the accounting processes and controls, and the industry in which the Group operates.

The Group consists of the Bank, five subsidiaries, six associates and one joint venture. Our audit procedures included full scope audit of the Bank's financial statements. The Bank represents about 99% of the Group's total assets and total comprehensive income for the year ended 31 December 2023. In respect of subsidiaries, we focused our audit work on the balances and transactions that were significant for the Group.

Other information

Management is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the Annual Report (but does not include the consolidated financial statements and our auditor's report thereon), which is expected to be made available to us after the date of this auditor's report.

Our opinion on the consolidated financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not and will not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the consolidated financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information identified above and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the consolidated financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

When we read the Annual Report, if we conclude that there is a material misstatement therein, we are required to communicate the matter to those charged with governance.

Suhrab Azimov
General Director/Certified Auditor

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the consolidated financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the IFRS Accounting Standards, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the consolidated financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with ISAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

Suhrab Azimov
General Director/Certified Auditor

- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the Group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, actions taken to eliminate threats or safeguards applied.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.
